

This April, Don't PASSOVER the LSTA Operations Conference

March 22, 2018 - Operations is one of the most challenging - and most important - issues in the loan market. So please join us on April 24th at the NY Hilton as banks, buy-side institutions, custodians, trustees, fund administrators, lawyers and vendors come together to discuss current operational challenges and explore how they can be resolved. (Think standards, best practices and technology that can combine to improve efficiency and accuracy in the loan market.) Embracing Disruptive Innovation in the Financial Sector, our keynote speaker, Business Futurist, Patrick Schwerdtfeger, will delve into the technological forces driving the transformation of business and inspire us put newly learned strategies to work. Do you know how to code a smart contract (or what one is)? Technology experts will educate us on blockchain and distributed ledger technology. And in a world awash with cybersecurity threats, how do we ensure privacy, security and authenticity? Finally, what happens if LIBOR is no longer the benchmark for loans? How will operations teams transition to a new rate? Engage your peers - come and network! Register for your spot today !
